Health and Wellbeing

January 2022

Time to put yourself first

Your January health and wellbeing update has lots of helpful tips, free courses and useful resources to help you improve your health, whether that's now or in a few months' time.

Don't be drawn in to the 'New Year New You' concept or compare yourself to others, be kind to yourself and make sure it's the right time for you to be setting yourself a new goal.

Throughout this year we will continue to offer free services for the local community such as:

Get Active Courses

Strong & Steady Courses & Workshops

Please note: This talk is suitable for people who have mild to moderate sleep issues. If you suffer with insomnia or any health conditions that are affecting your sleep, you should contact your GP.

you and you should contact your GP for advice.

Alcohol Support

January is 'Love Your Liver Awareness Month'. January is often a time when people take stock after the Christmas period. Many people increase their alcohol consumption and gain weight during the festive season - the two biggest risk factors for developing liver disease.

If you've been finding it difficult to control your drinking recently and want advice and support to cut down, we can help.

Our Alcohol support service provides a series of one to one sessions to support people who may be drinking a bit too much and want to cut down or stop drinking altogether to enjoy a healthier lifestyle.

It is a confidential, non-judgemental service with no group work involved.

Cervical Screening

Cervical Cancer Prevention Week 2022 will take place from 17-23 January.

We know many women find cervical screening a difficult test, and Covid-19 has made it more challenging for some, but attending regular appointments is vital to making sure you're safe and well.

Cervical screening is not a test for cancer, it's a test to help prevent cancer and it's one of the best ways to protect yourself from Cervical Cancer.

Whether you're due for a screening or need to make an appointment and want to find out more information or get support, you can find plenty of information on the NHS website and from charities such as Jo's Cervical Cancer Trust:

National Obesity Awareness Week

10 - 16 January

National Obesity awareness week aims to draw attention to the issue of obesity and encourage people to keep active and eat a healthy diet to avoid becoming obese.

Whether it's being more physically active or keeping a closer eye on what we eat, even small changes can go a long way to promote healthy living.

Thank you!

The Wellbeing Team are continuing to provide free one-to-one advice, guidance and support over the phone and face to face and we love getting your feedback. From losing weight to stopping smoking, reducing alcohol consumption or improving mental wellbeing, here are some of the positive comments we've had in 2021.

"You have made a huge difference to my now improved physical and mental state.

During my time with you I have lost weight, stopped smoking and gained confidence. I am free from nicotine and eating healthily and my finances have greatly improved."

"Thank you so much for the informative sessions we had. I appreciate your understanding and your very empowering approach to help me quit smoking.

The Wellbeing MOT certainly helps me focus on my current lifestyle and what I need to do. Please continue the good work you are doing to help maximise the health and well-being of Horsham residents."

Get Safe Online - New Year Resolutions

Thinking about
resolutions?

If you're one of those people who make New Year's resolutions but never seem to be able to keep to them, we'd like to make a suggestion: getting into better online habits.

It's not only easy to keep, but it will mean you can use the internet with increased safety and more confidence. You'll be able to protect yourself, your family, finances, devices and workplace ... every day of the year.

Visit www.getsafeonline.org/resolution

#NewYearsResolution

Thinking about New Year's resolutions? Here's a great New Year's resolution that will keep you safe online all year round.

Do you use the New Year as an opportunity to make resolutions to change various aspects of your everyday life for the better? It could be changing your diet, getting more exercise, taking up a new hobby or saving up for something special.

We'd like to suggest another one: getting into better online habits. If you do, you'll enjoy using the internet with increased safety and more confidence. You'll be able to protect yourself, your family, finances, devices and workplace.

And what's more, this resolution could be easier to keep than all the others you make!

Top tips to help you make and keep your online safety New Year's resolution:

- Don't overshare - You may like to share the good times with all your contacts, but take a moment to think about what and why you're sharing, whose hands it could fall into and how it might affect others.
- Do some mobile housekeeping - If you and your mobile are inseparable, it's a good idea to review what apps you have loaded, and delete those you haven't used for six months. Check privacy and location settings on all your apps, as well as your device and camera. Make sure your mobile devices are protected with a passcode, and download a reputable security app.
- Get secure - Make sure the software, apps and operating systems on all your devices are updated when prompted, or better still set this to happen automatically. Check that you have up-to-date, high quality internet security software (antivirus/antispymware) on all your devices, including mobiles.
- Keep your payments secure - When you're making online payments for purchases, services or money transfers, make sure they're via a secure web page or authorised app. Being asked to pay for something – whether it's goods, a holiday or travel, concert tickets or anything else, could be a sign that you're being defrauded.
- Protect yourself from fraud - To safeguard yourself from online fraud, think twice before opening email attachments, or clicking on links in unexpected emails, texts and social media posts. Learn how to spot bogus emails, texts and posts. Don't provide any more information than is absolutely necessary. And remember that online, not everyone is who they may appear to be. If in doubt, call the organisation or person the communication claims to be from, on the number you know to be correct.
- Behave respectfully - Voice your opinions, beliefs, and agreement or disagreement with others in a balanced, objective, tolerant way. This will earn you wider respect than out-and-out attacking speech, or blindly following or spreading what others say. Treat others as you'd like to be treated yourself. There's no place online – or anywhere else – for abuse on grounds of race, colour, gender, sexual orientation, appearance or beliefs.

Get Safe Online

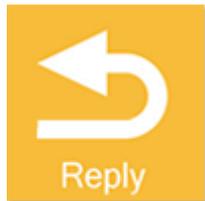

Get Safe Online is the UK's leading source of information and advice on online safety and security, for the public and small businesses. It is a not-for-profit, public/private sector partnership backed by law enforcement agencies and leading organisations in internet security, banking and retail. For more information and expert, easy-to-follow, impartial advice on safeguarding yourself, your family, finances, devices and workplace, visit www.getsafeonline.org.

If you think you've been a victim of online fraud, report it to Action Fraud, the UK's national fraud and cybercrime reporting centre on 0300 123 20 40 or at www.actionfraud.police.uk. In Scotland, report fraud to Police Scotland by calling 101.

Town and Parish
Council Forum

Gatwick Noise Management Board forums -

There is a Forum meeting with the Chairs of the Gatwick Airport noise forums. Cllr Leyland, Blackmore and Pavey are due to attend. Please let us know if there is any specific aircraft noise issues you would like them to raise with the chairs before 10th January – cagnegatwick@gmail.com

Letter from Cllr Leyland and Blackmore to Gatwick re-election of one noise group to take both NEX seats. Attached

Further to the vote at the last Forum meeting to support the CAGNE lobbying group nomination to be on the Noise Executive Board, this has been ignored by block voting orchestrated by the noise group that now hold both seats. This is achieved due to the geographical dominance of noise groups concerned with arrivals and singular departure routes outside of the noise level LOAEL.

Some councils are unhappy at this appointment (again) as councils are not permitted to be members of noise groups. These noise groups are specific to set airspace and non-elected/quantified bodies to whom they speak unlike councils. Attached letter from Salfords and Sidlow PC to Gatwick.

The GACC noise groups brought a study to remove the noise abatement procedure at night (not to join at the ILS (final approach) at less than 10nm) to be part of the NMB workplan. This has now included arrivals joining the ILS (instrument landing system) from the north with a split 50/50 north and south, as well as at 6nm flying over new communities much closer to the runway, significantly increasing noise at night. Diagrams from study here. This is to be part of FASIS, see below.

5. Discussion on Final Scenarios for Analysis

The analysis of the scenarios demonstrates that there is limited value in continuing analysis of Joining Points post 12nm.

1. The results show concentration of the noise on the centre-line.
2. The behaviour for additional JPs can be extrapolated.
3. New metrics could be considered to better compare any JP options further out.

It is recommended that final stages of analysis concentrate on:

1. Joining Points further in i.e. 6nm or 7nm
 - a) Whilst there are operational considerations that make these JPs potentially unfeasible in current environment longer-term precision navigation technology may make this possible.
2. Splitting the aircraft movements 50/50 between North and South arrivals.

Noise Metrics Commentary

The Lden metric has not been progressed within the Study. The approach has been to concentrate on the two standard metrics used at Gatwick (LAeq and Number Above). The analysis of additional metrics should be considered in follow-on work.

Population counts for LAeq will not be conducted. The analysis is comparing options agnostic to the location. This analysis should be completed as part of any future CAP1616 ACP.

FED (Fair and Equitable Distribution) and NAP study presentation papers are on the website.

FASIS (modernisation of airspace)–

Gatwick is to present flight paths options selected by Gatwick to the NMB noise groups and councils in February 2022 – this could impact new communities.

Airspace modernisation (FASIS) continues and residents not currently overflowed should be concerned as with 2 runways (35% increase in flights) they will be seeking to fit in more 'efficiency', 'resilience' which could mean flying over new areas that are not currently being considered or consulted due to the monopoly of one noise group at Gatwick and at the Department for Transport (DfT)

- DfT are responsible for Noise Preferential Routes, that dictate departure routes, would require evidence from Gatwick if they seek to remove these with FASIS, but as the DfT are behind FASIS so this should be a warning to constituent especially those that have experienced ADNID in 2014 (Jeremy Quin and Andrew Griffiths).
- Rural areas continue to be targeted due to Gatwick seeking to avoid 'population density (data 2021 levels).
- Much is given to avoiding AONB but they are still overflowed. Little concern is given to rural resident's wellbeing and house value

- Continuous Climb Operations is impacting residents closer to the runway now as recognised by the CAA. This will enable vectoring closer to the runway due to increased climb ratio.
- Heathrow is consulting but is behind Gatwick in CAA stages, but they are not necessarily consulting areas under both airspace (Gatwick and Heathrow, this is a concern)
- Arrivals are joining the ILS from the north affecting northern constituents (Surrey - Crispin Blunt and Claire Coutinho), taking traffic from Kent (Kent noise group has the monopoly of community seats at DfT and Gatwick). This is being flown due to the CAA 3Di NATS incentive to reduce time and fuel

CAA Update on Route 4 (departs west and heads northeast) airspace changes – Not much to see apart from the area that will be impacted by change -
